2023 Tele-Healthcare Law Update: Virtual Healthcare’s Evolving Legal Landscape After The Covid-19 Pandemic

Almost every non-emergency healthcare setting migrated into some form of virtual healthcare services during the Covid-19 Pandemic. What quickly surfaced was a realization that healthcare laws were not well suited for this rapidly evolving healthcare environment. After a slow start, legislative bodies and healthcare agencies went into high gear promulgating new laws and regulations needed to regulate and facilitate virtual healthcare services. This program will survey this legal evolution, outline the current state of healthcare laws regulating both the intra-state and inter-state delivery of virtual healthcare services. The program will conclude with an overview of the fraud and abuse the government identified and charged as a result of this rapid expansion.
